Athletic Association President Makes Appeal

Dear Parents:

This is a letter from your Newly-formed Coleman Athletic Association. This Association is interested in YOUR child's activities in this community, now and until they leave to be residents somewhere else.

We, the Coleman Athletic Association, are in NO way connected to the Sports Association. They have a job to do and ask nothing of us, and we are the same with them.

All deductions for sports from the miners and businesses is the property of the Coleman Sports Association. We in the Athletic Association raise our own funds by tag days, etc. Our Association is responsible for all children to 18 years, while in the sports in our community. The TOTAL SUCCESS of all sports is Personal Support - if your child is playing in any sport here in town YOU as parents, at least one of you, should be there to root and give him the moral support that only a Parent Can Give.

I have heard many, many times of how there is nothing in this town for our young people, and I really agree, and there is going to be far less than what we have right now unless you and I, as adults get off our fat, lazy bottoms and do something. They are your children and mine, but too often we want someone else to look after them for us.

We plead with you all now to help us as an Association to be a success in our endeavors, if we fail it is only because you as parents failed us. And if you fail and we fail then the Most Important Question to Ask Ourselves is - What About The Kids? We will be looking forward to meeting you at the GAMES. Thank you, MR. PETER WALKER, President Athletic Assn.

We are in the process at the moment of getting new uniforms for all eight teams for hockey. These uniforms will be donations by different firms and groups, and will bear their names on the fronts of the sweaters. We are also laying plans for a banquet in the latter part of the season. Will forward more information in this regard later on.

Keep your child off the streets. Come out and root for him. He will only have what you and I are willing to fight and get for him. The child the never is proud of his parents probably never will do anything to make his parents proud of him.

Fish & Game Trophy Night, March 4th

Coleman Fish and Game Association will hold its annual Trophy Night in the Coleman Legion on March 4.

Plans are being completed to have Provincial Fish and Game Association President Joe Balla, a game biologist from Lethbridge and members of the Fish and Game Branch and Forestry branch present at the Trophy Night and social evening.

Trophies will be presented this year to first place winners in the Sheep, Elk, Goat, Whittell, Mule Deer and Moose events and prizes are being arranged for second and third places.

Trophies will also be provided for the biggest Rainbow, Cut-throat and Dolly Varden trout caught during the past season.

The Association has agreed to increase the price of memberships to $2 per man and if a wife wishes to join she may do so at a cost of $1.00.

A work "Be" is being planned in the near future and crews will travel to the Association's new dam site northwest of Coleman via snow machine. The crews will burn brush that was cut during last spring.

Coleman Council Meet Insurance Representatives

Al Lake, manager, and Eldon Dahl, inspector of the British Canadian Insurance Co. accompanied by local agent, Al Krywolt, were present at Coleman council meeting last week to review the insurance coverage carried by the town on all of its properties.

It was disclosed that the town was considerably under-insured on such items as the arena, town workshop and other buildings and several newly-built structures are not covered.

The representatives present suggested that the town have an independent appraiser evaluate the town properties without delay so that coverage may be arranged.

Fire Chief Henry Zak was present and requested that council sign a mutual fire aid agreement that provided for co-operation between all of the Crows Nest Pass Fire Brigades including Coleman, Blaimore, Frank, Bellevue and Hillcrest during times of big fires. Council signed the agreement.

Chief Zak reported that the brigade members are making very favorable progress in insulating the fire hall tower that is being used to hang and dry hoses. The brigade is building a stairway to the top of the tower to replace a ladder, in order to prevent accidents. Mr. Zak stated the brigade was preparing a list of equipment needed for consideration in the town's budget.

Council received word from the department of the Attorney-General advising that the department had approved Coleman being policed by the RCMP since at no cost to the town. Coleman qualifies under der new provincial regulations, which provide for towns having a population under 1500 to be policed by RCMP. Coleman's population is 1306.

A by-law to borrow and draw money to pay immediate debts was approved.

Secretary Dick Jensen advised that approval has been received by the town for a number of winter works projects to include building a rock wall along the Nez Perce Creek in town, and to erect a retaining wall. One project is being delayed as the government requested that a plan of the project of installing 24 new type street lamps in various parts of town be provided.

Councillors Fred MacLeod, Mel Cornett and Jack Jenkins will inspect the town's lighting and draw up a plan of where the lights are needed.

The town will also apply for approval of a winter works project to lay sewerage and other service lines to a number of lots in the town's new sub-division. Test drill holes are to be drilled this week to determine the underground strata.

Fire Chief Zak will attend the annual fire chiefs' convention to be held in Edmonton during the month of March.

Power Failure Blacks Out Pass

A power failure in the Crows Nest Pass blacked out homes in the district at 5:10 Thursday and left many homes without power until 10:30 p.m.

Failure was caused due to a break in the power company lines which made one line inoperative. One of the breakers was in Sentinel and the other at Bellevue.

Power company crews were hampered in their efforts to repair lines due to exceptionally high winds from the west and heavy blowing snow. Temperatures in the district remained at 32 degrees above zero, fortunately for the home-owners depending upon electricity.

Power was restored at Bellevue, Coleman, Sentinel and Hillcrest at 7:30, but one section of Blaimore was without power until 10:30.

Power company officials have expressed their appreciation for the co-operation and patience shown by the residents in the Pass.

OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills)

The Joy of Physical Labor

In Vancouver this morning there is a public relations man with aching arms and back. He spent yesterday at Greenhorn Farm and I public-related him, but good!

He had accepted my invitation to come out to the farm any day he felt like getting away from the maddening crowd. He landed here, I am sure, expecting to loaf and chat the day away - a beautiful, sunny December day with only a slight nip in the air. We chatted by the fireplace for a spell, and then I suggested we take a stroll down by the creek in the back pasture.

As we walked along, he reached out and caught a stalk of thistle, and to his surprise the ugly thing came up freely, roots and all, for the heavy rains soften the soil here in the Fraser Valley in the winter.

"Boy!" I exclaimed, admiringly, "you've shown me something! I've been scything the thistle - and here you show me how it could be pulled up by the roots. Or else that one was just a freak."

He grabbed another thistle and up it came, the root long and shiny and alive-looking, as though just waiting for spring to send up new thistles to drive me wild. He put it on top of the other one he had pulled. "See," he said, "you could make piles of them and burn them in the spring." And away he went again, pulling the darn things easily and piling them up criss-cross for drying.

And so it went, until, with both of us working and talking, we cleared about half an acre in a few hours. It was past the noon hour and Nora was hollering from the farm yard that our lunch was ready. We both ate like demons, and after the meal it was my friend who first suggested we go out and finish the job!

He had tasted the joy of physical labor, and wanted more of it. We worked another two hours or so, and then lit a small fire down by the creek. Nora brought us refreshments and the horses, dog, cat and Woolly-bully, our Jersey bull calf, came to join the party.

We didn't say one word about public relations; he wanted to talk farming, for now it was in his blood, too. He declared that he had not had such a pleasant time for years, and I think he really meant it - last night; but this morning, if his arms and back are as stiff and sore as mine, he may have second thoughts about making a career of it.

But I'm going to have him out here next spring, because I believe he's entitled to join me in the fun of setting a fire to those ugly piles of thistle. They'll burn like beacons, signalling the joy of hard physical labor.

Third Annual South Alberta U. N. Report

More than 100 Southern Alberta and Northern Montana high school students are expected to attend the Third Annual Southern Alberta United Nations Assembly this Easter.

The event will be staged at the Lethbridge Collegiate Institute in Lethbridge on March 27 and 28.

As in previous years, the hosts for the Assembly will be the LCI World Affairs Club.

However, this year, high schools from a much larger area will be eligible to participate in the Assembly. The new participation district is bounded on the east by Medicine Hat, on the west by the B. C. boundary, on the north by Calgary and on the south by Great Falls.

Only students attending high school in this area may attend. A registration fee of $4.00 will be charged this year, with the proceeds going toward a banquet, dance and hootenanny to be held in conjunction with the Assembly. All out of town students will be supplied with billets.

The actual Assembly will consist of some 50 countries, to be represented by two or three students each. Tentative plans call for motions dealing with U. S. involvement in Viet Nam, Communist Chinese admittance to the UN, the current conflict in Yemen between the UAR and Saudi Arabia. Secretary General for the Southern Alberta UN will be a Lethbridge teacher, Mr. Fred Saint. A noted Canadian will be featured as the guest speaker and President of the Assembly.

Assembly registration forms are expected to be available at most Southern Alberta and Northern Montana high schools by January 20th. But if the forms happen to be unavailable, interested students are asked to write Mr. Kevin Anstey, c/o LCI, World Affairs Club, Lethbridge Collegiate Institute, at Lethbridge, Alberta.

Deadline for registrations will be February and all Crown News Pass students are given a special invitation to attend.

NDP Elect Officers

Ed Nelson, vice-president of the New Democratic Party of Canada, at a meeting held in Coleman Elks hall January 22, attended by over 80 persons, charged that Social Credit in its 32 years in power in Alberta, had protected monopolies from the people and not the people from monopolies. He outlined the work of the Social Credit government in Alberta since 1952, and urged all to get out and work to put the NDP in power.

Garth Turcott, M.L.A., gave a report on the recent session. He noted that the Pincher Creek - Crows Nest Pass NDP victory has been hailed across the country as a sign of the rapidly growing NDP support in Alberta. The New Democratic Party philosophy, he said, is based on the selfish motive of "each man is his brother's keeper". It is time, he added, that people should come before profits.

Provincial N D P Secretary, Grant Nottley, outlined report 67, the Centennial project of the provincial NDP. Within the next two months the party plans to canvass every home in the province of Alberta. He also announced that the Provincial Convention will be held in the Chateau Lacombe in Edmonton on March 17, 18 and 19. Eva Banta, Alberta NDP Women's Director, reported on the role of the NDP Women's Committee in Alberta, and she stressed the importance of organizing a committee in this constituency.

Women's Committee was formed with the following slate being elected:

Chairman, Norma Slopek, Blairmore; vice-chairman, Elsie Salant of Coleman; secretary, Mrs. Frank Krish of Coleman, and treasurer, Mrs. M. Michenda of Blairmore.

New officers for the Pincher Creek - Crows Nest Pass Constituency Committee are President, Paul Robinson, of Pincher Creek; vice-president, Bob Salant of Coleman, and secretary, Mrs. Keith Leal of Pincher Creek.

Delegates elected to attend the provincial convention were Ken Rees, Nick Schlosser, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Salant, Mrs. E. Perry, Tom Sprlak, Mrs. Leal, Mrs. G. Turcott, Tony Patera, Pete Meronuk, Mr. and Mrs. F. Krish, Paul Robinson, Pauline Roddin and Albert Mark.

Lions Name Bingo Winners

of Bellevue, and Mrs. Rudy Yellig of Coleman, on January 18th. Other winners were:

$10, Mr. Plosny, Eleanor Chabich, Marge Schultz, Betty Aschacher and Josephine Graf.

$5, Mrs. Wall, Blairmore, and Adam Liebergall of Bellevue.

$5, Anne Brunsak and Joan Lord.

Marissa Laura Cozzi Is Bride Of Bruce Decoux

The Holy Ghost Catholic Church was the scene of a pretty wedding December 17, 1966, when Marissa Laura Cozzi, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cozzi of Coleman, became the bride of Bruce Vernon, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Decoux of Blairmore. Rev. Walter Kewski officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a full-length satin gown featuring raised velvet flowers and matching train that was attached with two large bows. The Empire waist and scoop neckline complemented the lily-point sleeves. She wore an ostrich feather headpiece from which flowed a shoulder-length tiered veil. A matching feather muff interwoven with red roses and holly leaves, completed her ensemble.

Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Rypien of Coleman, and Miss Toshi Furukawa of Lethbridge, who wore matching full-length sheaths of gold crepe featuring scooped neckline, Empire waists and short sleeves. They both wore matching gold headpieces fitted with gold flowers, and carried green tinted carnations.

Attending the groom were David Costigan as best man, and Stanley Peressini. Usher at the church was Ernest Fantin.

A reception was held in the Coleman Catholic hall in the evening attended by 175 persons.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and flanked by lighted tapers and vases of red roses.

Master of ceremonies was Arthur Williams of Blairmore, who called on David Costigan to propose the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. The toast to the bridesmaids was proposed by Stan Peressini.

Following the reception an evening of dancing was enjoyed followed by a midnight lunch. Set-it's orchestra provided the music.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cozzi wore a two-piece blue wool dress with yellow rose corsage. Mother of the groom wore a three-piece turquoise and grey wool suit and white rose corsage.

For her honeymoon trip to Calgary and Edmonton the bride wore a two-piece Burgundy red wool suit with matching gloves, shoes and purse.

On their return the couple took up residence in Nelson, B.C., where the groom is attending the Notre Dame University.

Attending the wedding were friends from Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and points in British Columbia.

Alberta Heart Foundation Meet

A meeting of the Alberta Heart Foundation was held in Pincher Creek on January 11.

Mr. Reg Kemp, executive director from Edmonton, was the speaker. Two films were shown in which the amazing progress in heart research was demonstrated. A large proportion of the research cost comes from the Foundation.

The following warnings were given—Take more exercise, especially younger people. Your circulation system will have less chance to get "rusty", that is, hardening of the blood vessels.

Examination of 200 young people under the age of 20, who died of any cause, showed that not one was without this beginning hardening. Why not less school hours?

Fifty per cent of all deaths are caused by heart or vascular diseases. Persons getting on in age should be their age and know when to slow down.

The fuel pump in your car uses approximately 2,000 gallons in three years. Your heart pumps a much larger quantity in 24 hours. Take care of it.

Persons who have had a heart attack can lead a normal life again, after giving the heart sufficient rest. They have to know their limitations and avoid over-exercising.

The heart relies on purified blood from the lungs. Why put extra strain on it by nicotine poisoning from smoking?

Membership fee to contribute to the Foundation's research and publication program is $2.00. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Doreen Bastian, Box 897, Pincher Creek, or Mrs. Maarten Van Donk of Coleman.

Maj. A. C. Bohomolec Receives New Appointment

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 19, 1967—The Hon. Leo Cadieux, Associate Minister of National Defence, has announced the appointment of Maj. Andre C. Bohomolec as Honorary Lieut.-Colonel of the South Alberta Light Horse Regiment.

Major Bohomolec has enjoyed a long and distinguished military career dating back to the First World War when he served as a cavalry officer with the Polish army. He took part in several major cavalry engagements and also served as a staff officer.

During the 1930's he was seconded to the Polish Diplomatic Corps as the Polish Charge D'Affaires at Singapore, and later held the position of Polish Military Attache in South America.

Throughout the Second World War he saw action in the British army. Serving with the famous Comanches, he attained the rank of Major prior to his discharge at the end of the war. He was the recipient of many honors and awards from both his own country and other European nations.

Major Bohomolec came to Canada after the war and became a naturalized Canadian citizen.

In October, 1960, he was appointed Honorary Lieut.-Colonel of the 19 Alberta Dragoons of Edmonton, holding that position until the unit was de-activated during the reorganization of the Militia in 1965.

An active and successful rancher, Major Bohomolec lives in Coleman, Alberta, where he is active in light horse circles. He owns what are considered to be some of the finest quarter horses in North America.

What About Water Conditions or Softeners?

After the washer has been filled with water and the soiled clothes placed in the washer, proper treatment of the water is the first step. Virtually all waters contain some amount of dissolved hardness minerals. In fact, even water supplies that are softened by tank-type softener in the home contain some degree of hardness.

If not made inactive in the water these hardness minerals (calcium and magnesium) are left free to combine with detergent, soap and soil and form deposits on fibres. These deposits (better known as washing film) build up with successive launderings.

Whites become prematurely grey and colored fabrics become dull, towels and diapers become stiff, scratchy and non-absorbent. To prevent formation of washing film, a non-precipitating water conditioner (example, Calgon, etc.) should be added to the wash water. Add enough to make the water feel silky soft. A good average is one teaspoon per gallon of water.

Regardless of the degree of hardness, the silky soft "touch test" will assure correct conditioning. Because of its unique ability to "tie up" hardness minerals, the water conditioner prevents formation of washing film. In addition, Calgon can be used to remove washing film which has accumulated on the clothes over a period of time.

Softeners should be added to the wash and first rinse. If, for some reason, it can only be added to one, use it in the first rinse. Another type of water softener is the precipitating water softeners.

These make water soft but cloudy. This cloudiness must be removed before you use the water for laundry purposes or else it will stay on the clothes, making them gray. Example:—Washing soda, Borax, Sal Soda, Lightning, Rain Drops, etc.

Expo site in shape; four months to go

MONTREAL — In the past 12 months Expo 67 has become a reality. What was a year ago largely frozen mud is now unmistakably the site of a World Exhibition. Then, Expo consisted of white lines on blueprints in Tokyo, Washington, Havana and Stockholm. On its 1,000-acre site, only the green of the original St. Helen's Island broke the monotony of the brown earth.

Today, with 90 per cent of building completed, the mid-river site is already charged with the excitement and glamor which will be presented to the world when the gates open April 28.

Last year at this time there were 1800 construction workers on the site, biting into frozen ground with giant diggers or working on stark concrete foundations. At the peak period in November, 1966, there were 8,000 workers on the site.

Construction reached a turning point in September when the exterior of three national pavilions, those of The Netherlands, Scandinavia and Tunisia were completed during the same week.

Throughout the autumn "topping off" ceremonies became more than a weekly occurrence and the flags of many nations began to appear on towers of steel, concrete, plastic and aluminum.

Expo's own construction and that of the private exhibitors has kept pace with the progress of the 70 participating nations.

The complete exhibition is on schedule. Of 134 projects which are the responsibility of the Expo Corporation, 78 are completed.

Thirty-eight more will be completed by the end of February. This leaves only 18 to be completed after February. These, however, are for the most part, such items as street furniture and fountains which cannot be done until the last minute.

Work on most of the national and private pavilions is at least 80 per cent complete. The few pavilions which have a lesser percentage of work completed are of a smaller and uncomplicated nature. None are in danger of being late.

Expo Express is gliding around the site in trial runs and the elevated mini-rail snakes in and out of pavilions, under bridges and over ponds and lagoons.

The La Ronde amusement area already has taken on an air of gaiety with construction completed on such features as the French Canadian Village, Pioneerland - Fort Edmonton, the English Pub, the Garden of Stars and Children's World.

During 1966 many people and even animals — in many countries were also preparing for Expo 67. Dolphins were trained in Florida, kangaroos in Australia and 200 other creatures for the Children's Zoo.

Chefs in 35 countries drew up menus for Expo restaurants. Curators in the world's leading museums packed 200 works of art to be shipped to Expo. Hundreds of cameramen travelled the globe, shooting film to illustrate Expo's theme "Man and His World". In France, Commander Yves Cousteau built underwater vehicles for an aquanaut exhibit in the Man the Explorer theme pavilion.

The world's leading companies in the performing arts have accepted invitations to appear in Expo's World Festival which critics are already saying will be the greatest collection of talent ever assembled.

And during 1966 people around the world started talking of Expo 67 and of Canada.

Mr. Thomas Hoisted,
The Coleman Journal,
Coleman, Alberta.

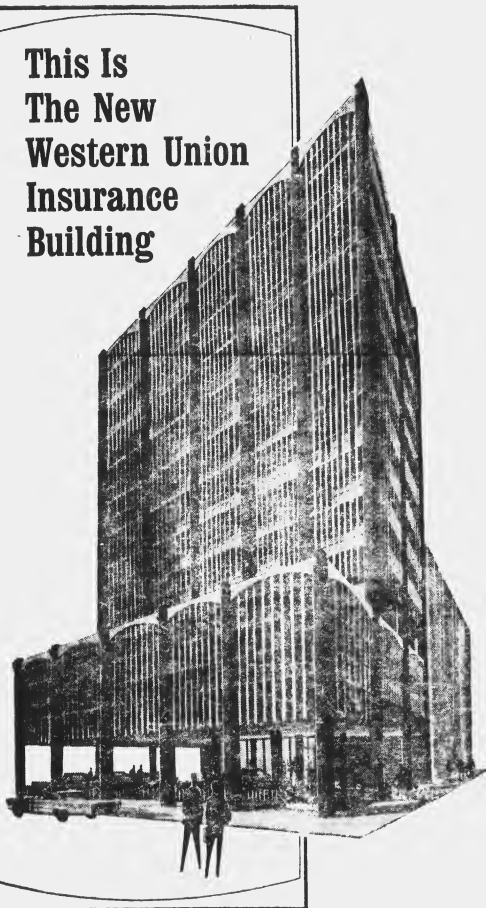

Dear Tom:
I am enclosing payment for the renewal of my subscription to The Journal. I am a bit late in forwarding it this year.

I hope the past year was a very successful one for you and that the coming year will be a happy and healthy one for you both.

The holiday of Christmas and the New Year was very happy and most enjoyable for us. The snow did not get this far as yet, but we have had a lot of rain since the first of November. The lawns are so green at this time and actually need cutting and trimming. I am glad that your winter has not been too severe up to the present, and may your spring be an early and pleasant one.

Our kindest regards to you both.
Yours truly,
FRANK H. GRAHAM.

This Is The New Western Union Insurance Building

It might serve as a Centennial symbol showing the growth of our all-Canadian-owned company to fifty times its original size in a quarter-century. Now Alberta's largest chartered insurance company, Western Union Insurance has assets exceeding $5,000,000. Its 55,000 policyholders — business firms, householders and farmers, served by independent qualified agents in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia — hold policies covering every class of general insurance.

By moving into our new headquarters, we can provide even better service and facilities. For example, we are now one of only eight insurance companies in Canada to have an IBM 360/30 — North America's most modern insurance data processing equipment.

Thank you, Western Canada. And may we suggest that, in Centennial Year, you choose a Canadian-owned insurance company. There are only a few among the hundreds operating in Canada. Your agent will know them.

Have you ever wondered...

... what happens to the profits made by the province of Alberta treasury branches?

After all operating costs have been paid, these profits (over $5 million in the last six years) are turned over to the General Revenue Fund of the Alberta Government to help pay for the cost of running the Province. In addition to this, a Treasury Branch reserve fund has been built up to more than $4 million. A self-supporting business enterprise, the Treasury Branches make no loans from government accounts. Loans made to assist in the financial and industrial growth of the Province come entirely from the money deposited by the people of Alberta.

... who should be concerned about Alberta's "neglected children"?

YOU should be. It is the duty of every Albertan to help prevent any child from being harmed through neglect or ill-treatment and, under the terms of The Child Welfare Act, it is obligatory to report such action to the authorities. In this case, the authorities are the Child Welfare Branch of the Alberta Department of Public Welfare, as this department gradually assumes all responsibilities for child protection within the Province. It is expected that the transfer of these duties from the Municipal to Provincial authorities will be completed by the end of this year, except in Edmonton and Calgary where the change will not be completed for two years.

... who administers Alberta's new towns before there is even a population?

Many of Alberta's new towns must be carved out of the bush and a wilderness must be turned into a habitable area with streets, water, sewer and power, even before the population starts to arrive. This takes money and people and, in most cases, arrangements for both are supplied by the Municipal Inspection Branch of the Alberta Department of Municipal Affairs. Loans of up to one million are available from the Provincial Treasurer for the development of a new town-site and experts from the Branch form a Board of Administrators which will oversee the growth of the town until the population and prospects become sufficient for the local residents to assume control.

... why you can't fish with live bait in Alberta?

Any fisherman who puts that enticing little wriggler on his hook may be unknowingly taking the first step in replacing the trout in his favorite fishing spot with completely undesirable fish. If the live bait goes free to grow and spawn, these undesirable species will soon crowd the trout into extinction, thereby destroying sport fishing in that location. To maintain Alberta angling, the Fish and Wildlife Division, Department of Lands and Forests, plant two to three million trout in Provincial waters each year. Half a million of these are yearlings, seven to eight inches long, the rest, fingerlings. This year, plants were made in 11 children's ponds, 105 lakes and reservoirs, 91 beaver ponds, 13 locations where spawning does not take place, and 3 fish-populated areas where new species were introduced.

... who measures Alberta?

Before homesteaders can move in, before communities can be started or subdivisions built or roads constructed, the land has to be measured and boundary monuments established. To see that this is done properly is the job of the Surveys Branch of the Alberta Department of Highways. In addition to being responsible for the establishment of base lines and surveying of townships and highways, the Branch has direction over all surveying done in the Province under the Alberta Surveys Act, and examines all plans of survey to ensure their compliance with that Act. The results of all this work are recorded on plans which are registered in the Land Titles Office and subsequently reflected in a variety of maps produced by the Mapping Division of the Surveys Branch.

... who's fighting the war on weeds?

Alberta farmers wouldn't have much chance of winning their war against weeds if the enemy could keep calling up reinforcements from uncultivated roadsides and abandoned lands. To keep weeds down in these "no man's lands", the Weed Control Section of the Plant Industry Division, Alberta Department of Agriculture, supplies ammunition to municipalities and to individual farmers. Effective weed control chemicals are provided at cost to municipal authorities and at less than cost to farmers to encourage them to eliminate patches of dangerous weeds in uncultivated ground. A special spraying program kills weeds along roadsides and these areas are kept free of weeds by sowing appropriate mixtures of grass seed supplied to the municipalities by the Provincial government.

TO THE ELECTORS

OF

Crowsnest Pass School Division

No. 63, Sub Division No. 1

I earnestly solicit your support at the coming election for membership on the Crowsnest Pass School Division Board.

For the past 14 years I have served on the Coleman School Board, the last three years as Chairman. During this time our District school system expanded to meet the new requirements of the area as shown by the construction of the new High School. This assured the Coleman students of the best possible services available to the District. For the past fourteen years there has been no serious school problem which is a compliment to the efficiency of the Coleman School Board.

You may be assured that if elected, I shall carry this experience with me to the larger school unit.

I have always been interested in the best type of educational services for the students of the Coleman School District.

My past attendance at the Trustees' Short Course in School Administration, held in the Banff School of Fine Arts; an active participation in the monthly meetings of the A. S. T. A Zone No. 6 and membership on the board of the Lethbridge Junior College shows that I have had a broad experience in all phases of school work.

My interest and concern for the Pass is that of one who was born and raised in the Pass area. I am a Past President of the Coleman Lions Club; Past President of the Chamber of Commerce; Past Recorder of the Knights of Columbus and presently Secretary-Treasurer of the Coleman Holy Name Society.

JOHN SALUS.

TO THE ELECTORS

OF

Crowsnest Pass School Division

No. 63, Sub Division No. 1

Having been nominated as a Trustee for the above School Division, election being held February 1st, I solicit your vote.

If elected I will endeavor to fulfill the duties to the best of my ability.

I have had 16 years administering the affairs of the Coleman School District, during the time when the school system was expanding and constructing new building.

The Electors may be assured that I am still very interested in securing the best type of education for the students of the Crowsnest Pass.

A WEEKLY LOOK AT EXPO 67

(By Tracy S. Ludington)

The single word 'rendezvous' may well have myriad meanings to Canadians from coast to coast—but at EXPO in Montreal it means a wide-awake, furiously functioning organization within an organization that has as its aim the task of making as certain as humanly possible that groups visiting the greatest show on earth will leave the exhibition satisfied with their jaunt.

If you have a group of 50 persons or more planning to visit Expo any time between April 28 and October 27 during 1967, then Expo-rendezvous is for you—make no mistake about it.

Drop a line to Denise Beaudry at Expo - Rendezvous, and the wheels begin to whirl. You will receive a form to fill out, and on it are just the right questions, so that Denise will be able to fit you into the right niche. Answer the questions fully, and Expo will know what you want, when you want it, and will be able to size up your group so as to make last minute suggestions that may well afford extra pleasure for you.

If you are part of a group with special performing skills, for example, you may be doubly or triply welcome and find yourself in one of the amateur presentation spots; it may be that Expo publicity department people will see in your group's visit something well worth publicizing; and it is not beyond the realm of possibility at all that you may find yourself on stage in Expo's Bandshell Festival.

If it's passports, or guided tours, or daily programs, or the thousand and one other things that are bound to pop up in the guise of unanswered questions—then Expo Rendezvous is your answer, for you, and your whole group, if your group number 50 persons or more.

How is Expo-Rendezvous doing to date? Very nicely, thank you. More than 200,000 have signified their intention of visiting Expo some time during the six months of '67 that it is open, through the various groups now listed with 'Rendezvous', and with more than five months to go, Denise Beaudry feels that she has only scratched the surface.

The queries are pouring in from all parts of Canada, some parts of the U. S. and even from Europe.

Majority of the queries from Europe, she says, have been from France, and most of the tours from everywhere are planned by students, teachers and even school boards.

Then, of course, as if this wasn't quite enough, Expo-Rendezvous deals with conventions that are being planned for Montreal during Expo time, and so far this little item numbers some 235 conventions—and 'Rendezvous' is getting ready to take care of these people too, whether they are visiting Expo for a part of a day, a day or two or three days.

Is it better to hurry that first query to Denise Beaudry at Expo Rendezvous? Of course it is. And when you get your questionnaire, be sure and fill it in as well as you can. And ask all the extra questions you like—make it a real 20-questions deal, and then you'll be sure to have the right answers.

Expo Rendezvous will send along all the information you require. Address correspondence to Tracy S. Ludington, Expo 67, at 7005 Killdare Rd., Montreal 29).

New Scholarship

DR. GEOFFREY A. GAHERTY

Two substantial new scholarships for graduate study in engineering were announced today by Calgary Power Ltd. and the Universities of Alberta and Calgary.

The awards, the G. A. Gaherty Memorial Scholarships, are for $3,000 each, for graduate work in engineering, one at the University of Alberta and one at the University of Calgary. For students in, or proceeding to a Ph.D. program, a further $2,000 may be available.

They are the largest scholarships for engineering study awarded locally. The awards will be made to one student graduating from the Faculty of Engineering at each of the Universities of Alberta and Calgary on the basis of outstanding academic performance.

The scholarships honor Geoffrey Abbott Gaherty, for many years President and subsequently Chairman of the Board of Calgary Power Ltd. He was also President of Montreal Engineering Co. Ltd.

Dr. Gaherty died August 10, 1964. He had been associated with Calgary Power for 44 years. He was the key figure in the development of hydro-electric power on the Bow River and the integrated power grid that serves the Province of Alberta today.

Dr. Gaherty was born in Dickinson's Landing, Ontario, on April 3, 1880. He graduated from Dalhousie University in 1900 with a Bachelor of Engineering degree, and began his career at the age of 20 as assistant engineer with Western Canada Power Company at Stave Falls, British Columbia. He was design engineer for that company from 1912 to the outbreak of war. During the First World War, Dr. Gaherty served in France with the Royal Canadian Garrison

Our Alberta Heritage

PIONEER RANCH LIFE

How did it really feel to live on a pioneer Alberta ranch 70 years ago? Here are the words of one High River pioneer.

"A log or lumber house is built, then simply furnished. There are no elaborate meals or superfluous furniture. I like the endless riding over the prairie, the wind sweeping the grass, the herds moving from water to water, the fun of coyote hunting. I like the monotony and the change, the flannel shirts, the LIBERTY."

Certainly, there were hardships to be endured, but the cheerful and optimistic outlook usually prevailed. The words just quoted were written in 1898 by Maura O'Neill, just one of those proud, enterprising women pioneers, whose independent spirit contributed so much to the heritage of OUR ALBERTA. Coleman U.C.W. Centennial Project

St. Paul's United Church Women have a Centennial project of the associate members unit.

These are a group of ladies that are paid members and are inactive as far as attending monthly meetings is concerned, but are active in every other way.

A monthly newsletter is given to our associate members to keep them up to date on all happenings and events coming up in the church.

There are many of our United Church Women who do not have the time for another night out to attend meetings so we are trying this plan as our Centennial project.

The U.C.W. are planning a Centennial Tea for September, the date to be set later.

If there are any ladies in our community interested in joining this group, please phone Mrs. Emily Owen at 563-3884 or Mrs. B. Walker at 563-3886.

We need your support to make this a success.
